

August 30, 2015....22nd Sunday

Written by Fr. Fitz

Wednesday, 12 August 2015 11:44

Today, Jesus tells us it is not our Selfies pictures, nor the make up we put on, or our suntans that count. It is what is in the heart that counts.

We are now at the edge of Fall.

In Iowa, the corn is as high as an elephant's eye and it rustles in the humid wind.

So a reflection on Ordinary Time:

Bless our land from sea to sea

Bless the fields giving life to me.

bless the earth beneath my feet.

bless the food we have to eat.

And yet Creator God,

This is not ORDINARY time.

August 30, 2015.....22nd Sunday

Written by Fr. Fitz

Wednesday, 12 August 2015 11:44

This is extraordinary time,

where fertile earth lies supine

forests are despoiled,

deserts cursed by drouth,

ice bergs melted by global warming making chaos out of paradise.

What I do for the earth

I do for the children

Let the earth be for them,

not desert,

but precious gem.

North American Prayer Book

August 30, 2015....22nd Sunday

Written by Fr. Fitz

Wednesday, 12 August 2015 11:44
